MARK ONE STAFF

Mem'ries light the corners of my mind.

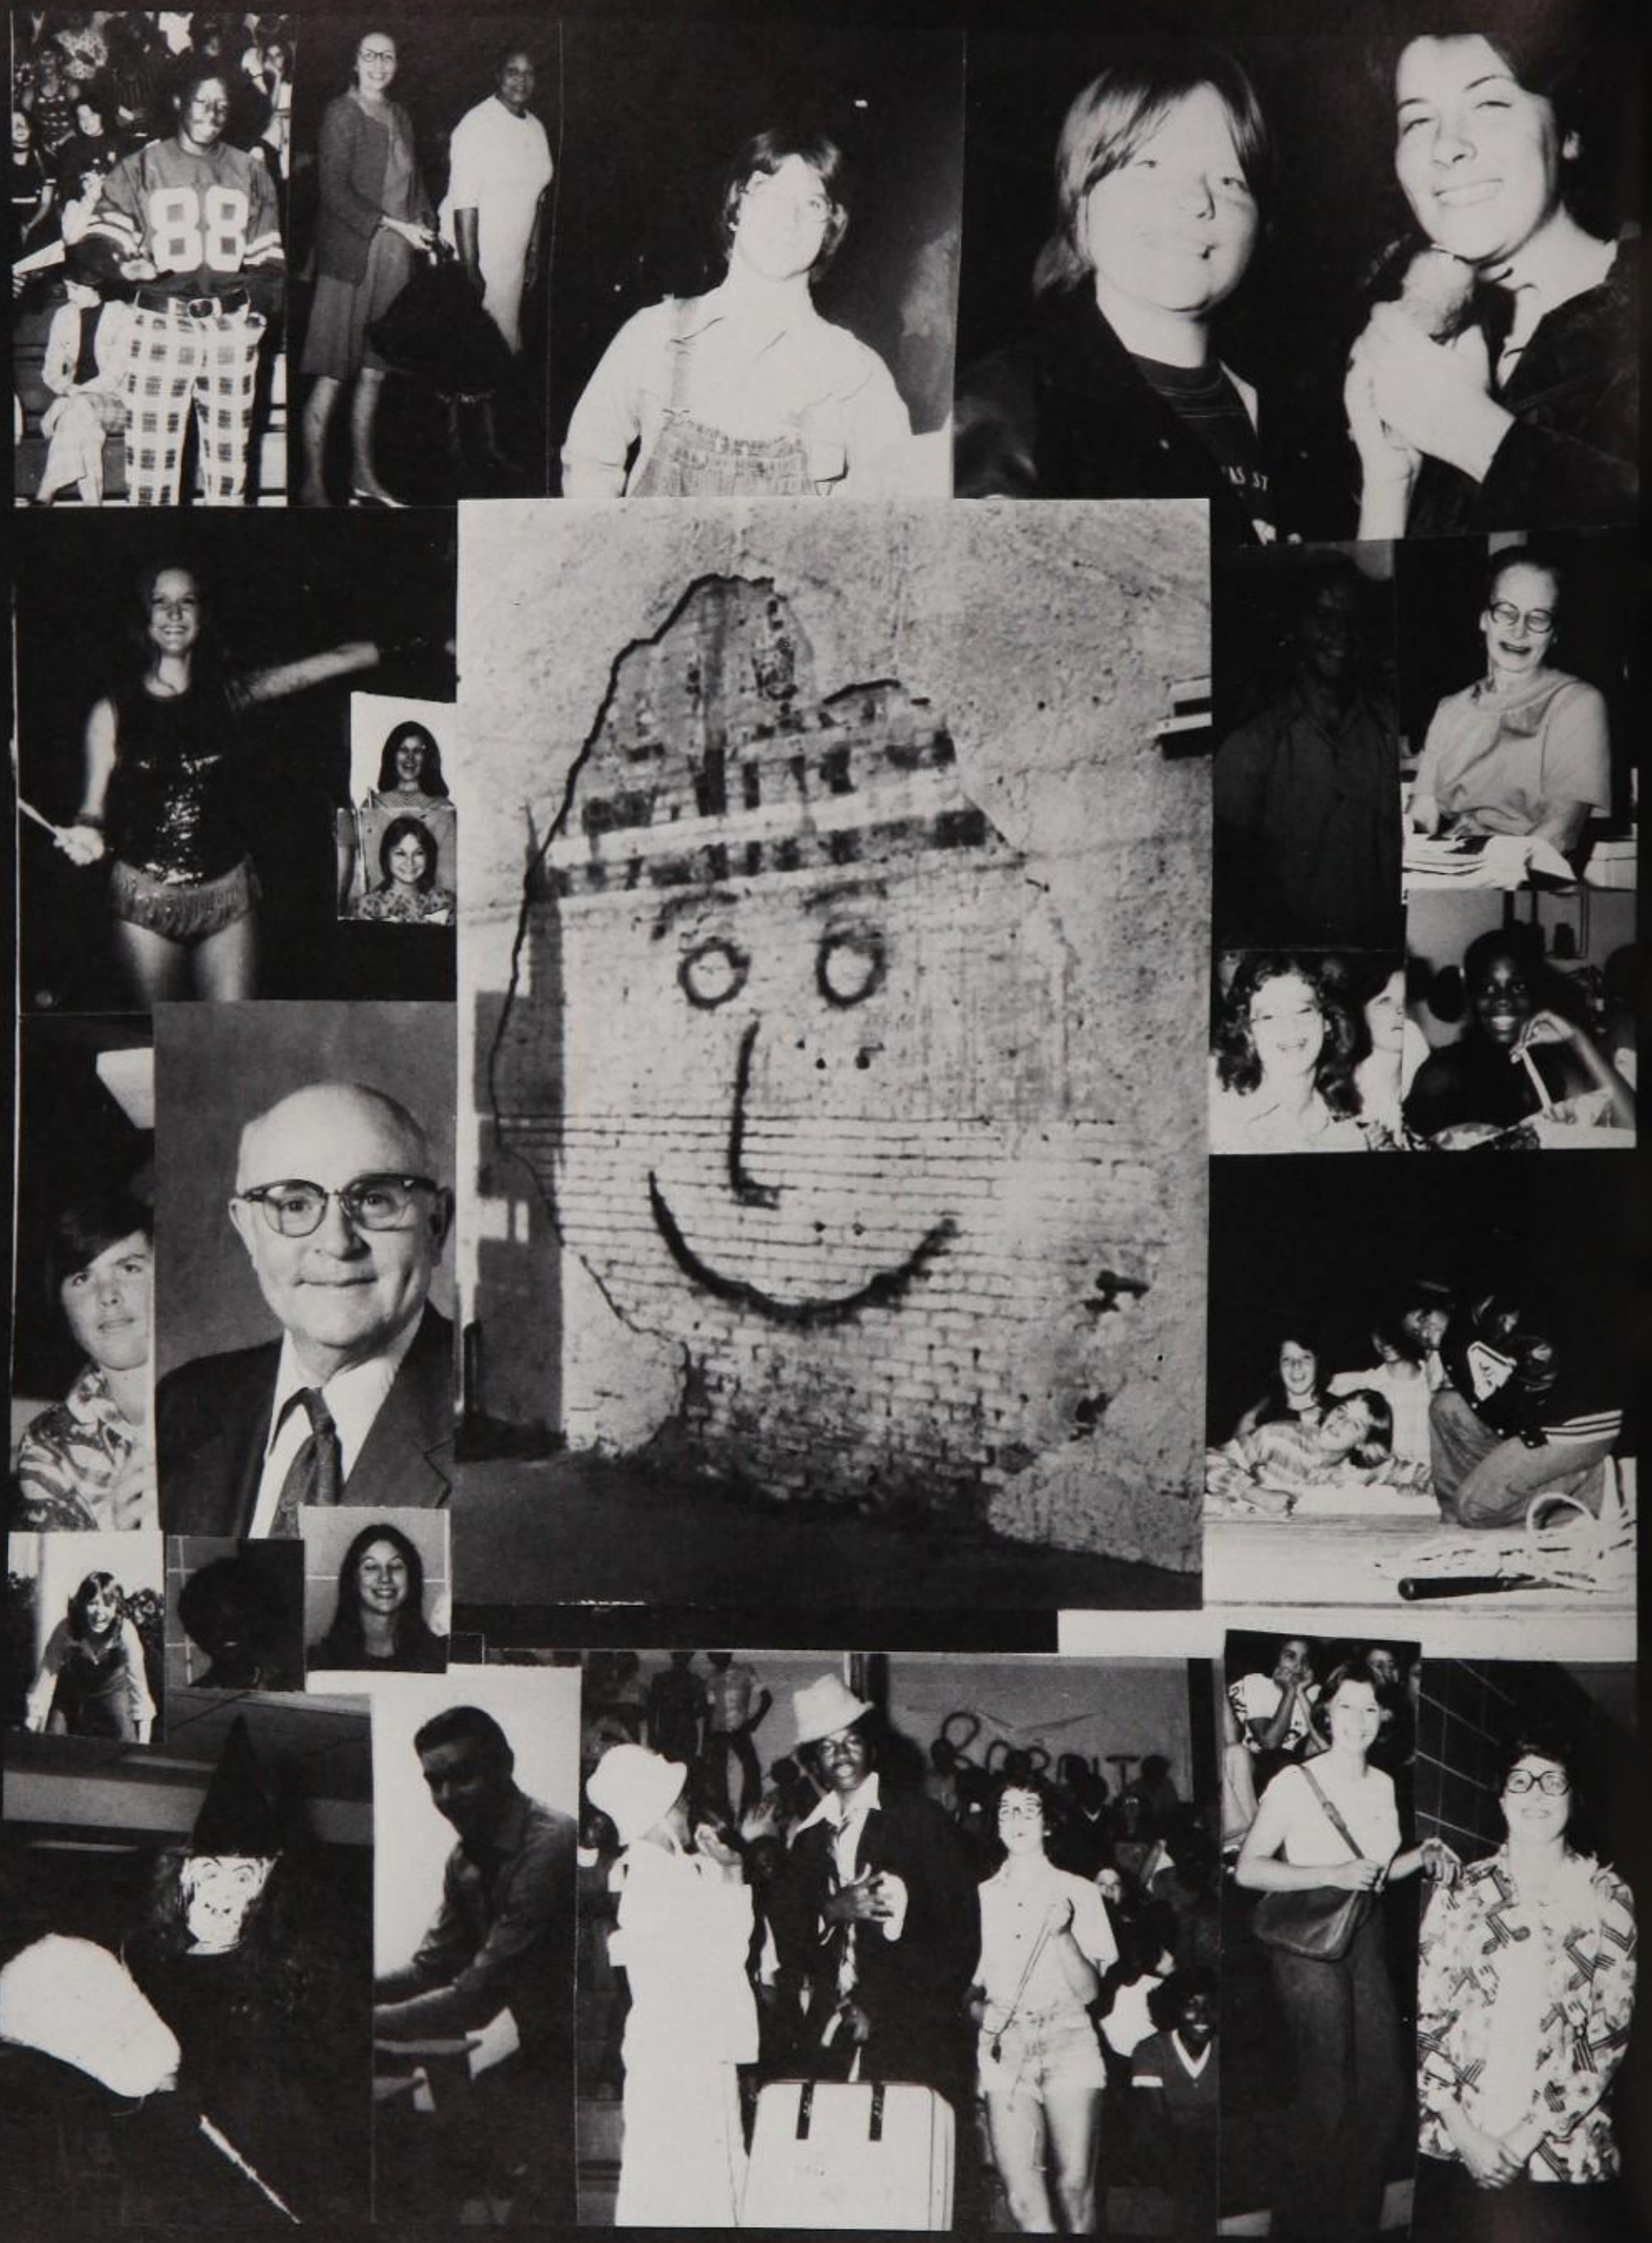
The torn down Welcome to Atlanta sign the hoisting of the Bicentennial flag by the student council

Misty water color mem'ries

Early misty mornings, old water mills, sparkling blue water, sharing an umbrella with a friend, and rainy nights at football games.

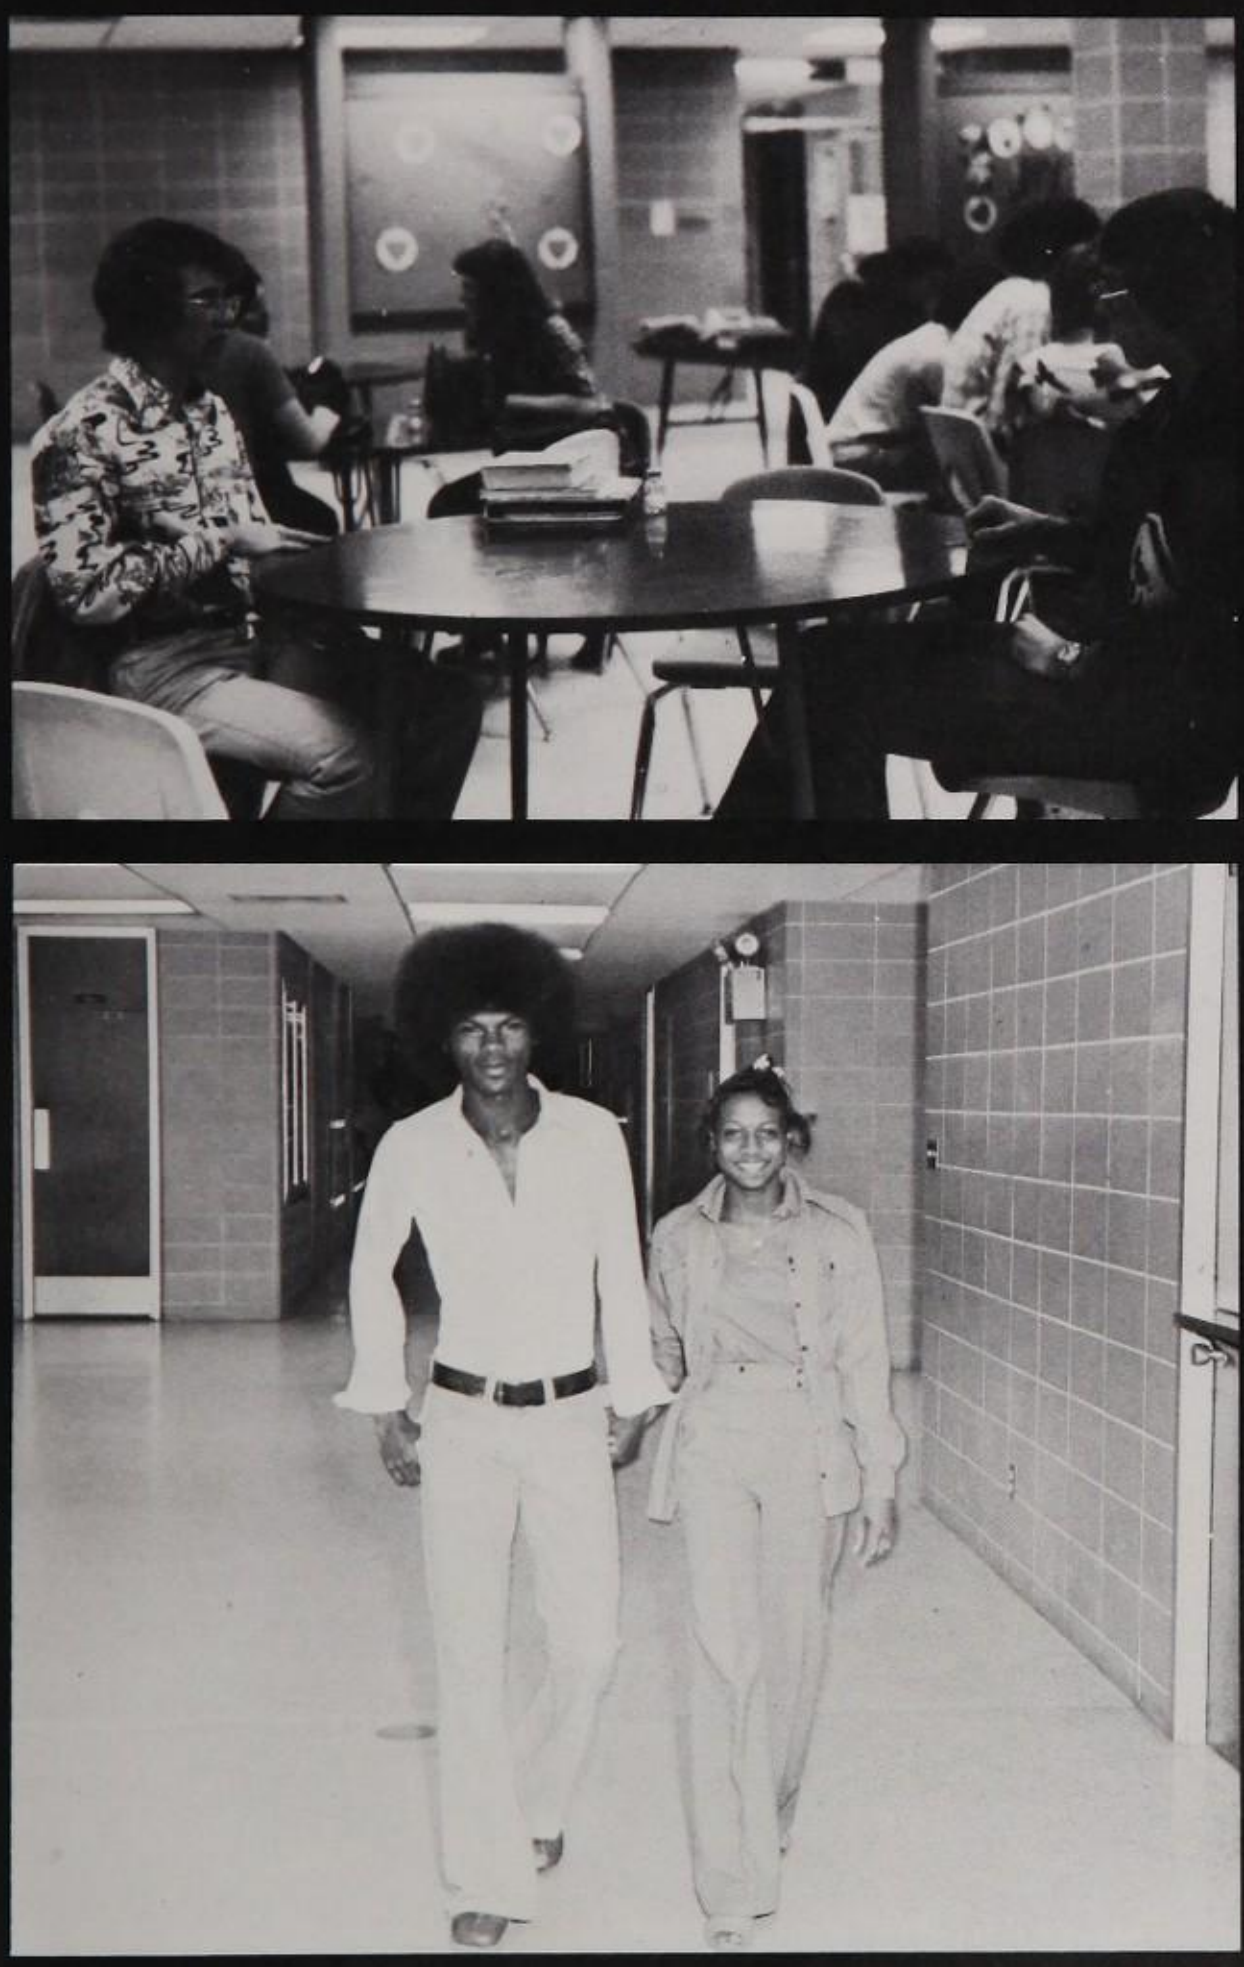
of the way we were.

Scattered pictures of the smiles



we left behind,

Smiles we gave to one another —

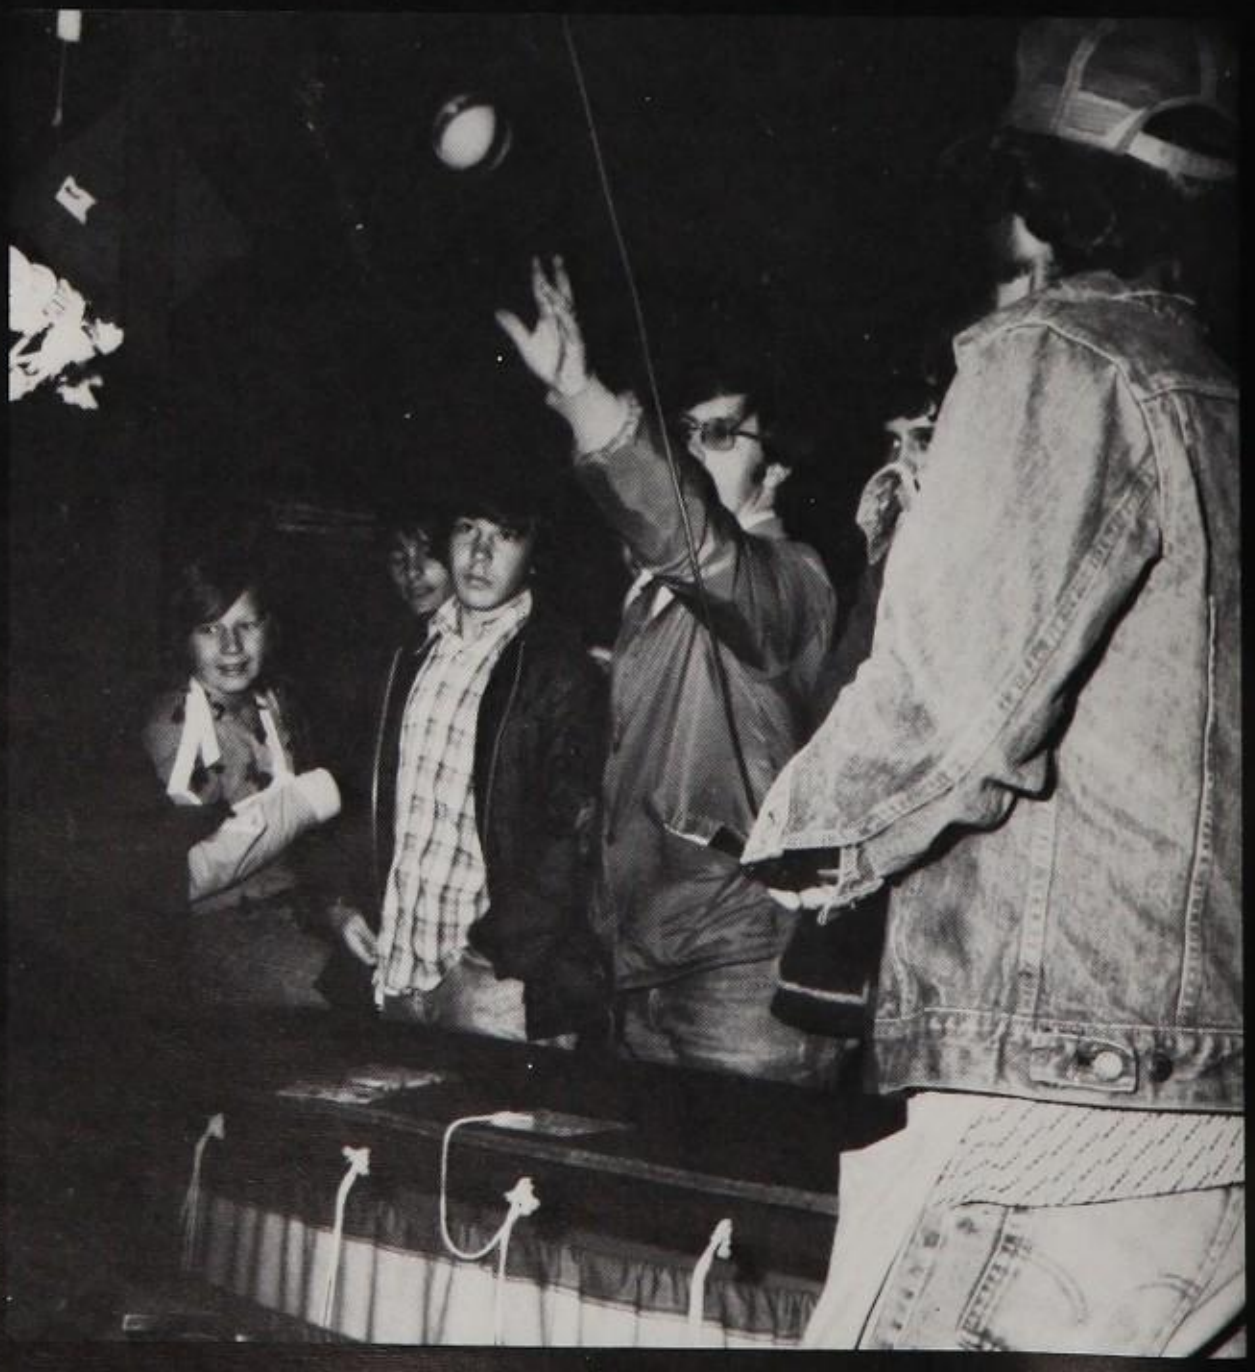


Mitch and his corn, Principal and Student, Starsky and Hutch?, friends playing penny table hockey, young love, and a football tackle.

for the way we were.

Can it be that it was all so simple then,

That basketball rebound, Senior pride in number 1 band, caramel apples, and Forest Festival activities.



or has time rewritten every line?

If we had the chance to do it all again,

Days of preparation for Homecoming, crucial play decisions, and facing the first day of school.

tell me would we? — could we?

Mem'ries may be beautiful, and yet,

Downtown pep rally, 17 to 0 victory over Linden rivals, First Homecoming, and a good omen rabbit crossing field before our 26 to 0 Clarksville win.

what's too painful to remember

An injured player, breaking up, a heartbreaking 13-12 loss to Mount Pleasant, Carey Cenac struck by a car as she approached the float which took the Homecoming nominees into the stadium, and the disappointments we all shared.

we simply choose to forget.

So it's the laughter we will remember . . .

From having a good time, laughing with the Freshmen at pep rallies, with old friends, and during the competition yell - laughter the contagious kind.

Bicentennial Art Show, sponsored by the Student Council and the Atlanta Women's Club. Winners and judges are shown with Mark White, the Sweepstakes Winner.

whenever we remember — the way we were;

MEMBER

Students and faculty participating in Bicentennial dress-up day, a gentle touch of the hand, dreamy looking eyes, and Seniors' last "good-byes."

Misses Curtis, Kirby Homecoming Queens

Dalphna Curtis and Debbie Kirby were crowned homecoming queens Friday night at the first homecoming ceremony ever for Atlanta High School.

Misses Kirby and Curtis were crowned in pre-game ceremonies at the Atlanta vs. Liberty-Eylau football game by Mark White, senior class president, and Kenneth Jefferson, student representative. They were presented mum crowns and rose bouquets.

Members of the Queens' Court included Sandra Davis, Sharon Neal, Gina Partain, Terri Robinson and Cheryl Taylor. Carey Cenac, the eighth candidate for queen, was injured in a accident just before the activities and did not participate.

Band sweetheart Cheryl Taylor was presented during halftime activities.

Last week, several AHS students went before Mr. Caver Johnson, AHS principal, with a proposed homecoming plan. With the approval of Mr. Johnson and Mr. George Haggard, Atlanta superintendent, a survey was taken of the student body to determine if a majority of the students was in favor of having a homecoming. After the majority vote, nomination by petition for homecoming queen candidates was begun. AHS Student Council agreed to sponsor the homecoming activities.

AHS student body voted by secret ballot Monday to determine the top eight girls, four white and four black, from the list of nominees. The student body voted again Tuesday for the homecoming queens from the list of eight candidates. The two queens were not announced until Friday night.

In celebration of homecoming, a downtown pep rally was held Friday afternoon. Police escorted a parade of decorated cars from the high school, through downtown, to the Highway Department. The pep rally was held on the Highway Department grounds. The traditional morning pep rally was also held in the AHS gym Friday at 11 a.m.

Several members of the senior class made a float for the homecoming activities. It carried out the Bicentennial theme as this year's senior class will graduate in 1976. The eight homecoming queen candidates rode on the float during the parade of cars Friday afternoon and at the football game Friday night.

During the week before homecoming, AHS VOE classes sold mum corsages to students, parents, teachers, and exes. The homecoming corsages were delivered by VOE Friday afternoon.

GINA'S GEMS

Superstar

BY GINA PARTAIN

and here they come, down the home stretch. She's leading...or is she? YES! She's won it. the 440 yard dash!

Babe Didrikson Zaharias?

No, just your very own Gina Rene' Partain!...SUPERSTAR!!

Although my glorious days as a trackster have long been over, there are still those moments when I dream. I dream of that night long ago, during my sixth grade year, when I was put to a test...the night of the intramural meet.

Like all "stars", I trained hard for this night. Every day, I could be seen, keeping the trails hot in practice. And when I say "trails", I mean...it literally meaning the cow trails in our pasture. The only complication was the occasional leaps I was forced to make in order to avoid certain unmentionable objects.

I soon found, however, that continual running was not enough. I had the stamina...it was speed I needed.

What I wondered, besides the occasional cows chasing me, will increase my speed? Of course, I thought. HOW could I be so dumb! All I need is my old Girl Scout back pack.

From then on, it was me, my back pack, and my rocks.

Rocks? You may ask.

Yes, rocks. Talk about heavy. WOW. But they worked. If you don't believe me, just try it. running as fast as you can for a mile or so with approximately 10 to 15 pounds of rocks on your back. I guarantee you you'll run faster when you take them off. It might be the last time you run out of your back, but you'll be faster.

Then it was upon me. MY DEBUT.

That first race wasn't so bad, just 40 yards. I won.

Humph. I boasted to my friends, this is a breeze.

Second race-the 20-yarder. Guess what? I won again.

By this time, you must realize my head was a wee bit larger than usual. In other words, I thought I was "HOT STUFF". I really was, but not like that I was exhausted...but still going.

Then the biggy...the 440-yard dash. This was where all my diligent work would pay off. It would take stamina and speed, my specialty. Or so I thought.

It was at this time I heard a voice and, glancing around to check it out, I saw my uncle, Ken (Kenneth Moore), and Bogie Price.

"Come here a second," whispered my uncle. "I've got a few tips for you." They then proceeded to coach me and tell me how to get the inside lane and "take it slow" till the last curve. After this and other tidbits of advice, it was time for me to go.

I went all right. Right over to the other girls where dumbo here promptly told everyone else what I had just been told.

Wasn't that smart? So smart that it almost cost brainchild here the race. You can imagine what it was like with about 10 excited little girls fighting for the inside lane.

When I finally did pull out in the final stretch, I felt like a fool. From then on out I kept my mouth shut.

Like Babe, I might someday consider trying my hand at golf. If nothing else, the fact that silence is required on the course will help me more than anything. If I have to be quiet, I won't be giving away advice to my competition, and believe me, FORCE is the ONLY thing that will keep me quiet.

Just think, if I could play golf and be good I could also be RICH. I'm just dreamin' again, but I think I see now where they get that "SILENCE is...or could be...GOLDEN."

Judges of this contest were Gary Wells, Hope High School, formerly a student of AHS, Lowell Clarks, Supervision of music in Beaumont; Henry Schraub, Weatherford High School.

"Sharp looking band!" was one of the judges' comment.

"Good presentation of horns!" was another judges' opinion.

"I was very proud of the band," commented Mr. Herring, AHS band director, "they've worked really hard and they deserved it."

The University Interscholastic League contest was the first step toward Sweepstakes, the highest honor a Texas band can receive. This is the eighth consecutive marching contest at which the AHS band has received a first division.

The band also received a "one" at the Henderson invitational contest in Arkadelphia, Ark., Saturday, Nov. 2.

KEN'S KOLUMN

Pride

BY KEN TURNER

"Why don't you quit writing about baseball for awhile, and write something about the offensive linemen," ... suggested Jeff Clayton recently.

"Well, I ..." I stuttered.

So, Jeff, here it is.

All of the seven seem to like playing the unheralded position of linemen. Some like the contact while another is slightly pessimistic with comments like "Somebody has to be a lineman."

John said this week, "I like being in there where it is rough."

Ricky commented on the lack of credit. "The lineman is the unsung hero. Being a lineman and knowing that I don't have to get the credit to get the job done, makes me feel good."

All of the seven except Johnny agreed that being a lineman was harder than being a back.

"I think it's harder because we have Coach Nickerson and he is harder," Luke added. According to Johnny, "Backs have to learn all of the plays the same as we do."

Several of the players said that being center was the hardest of the five interior spots. "The center has to be quick and coordinated enough to snap the ball and step out to block at the same time," pointed out Ricky.

All agreed that their main duty was to protect the quarterback and open a hole for the runner.

Ray kinda summed it up when he said, "We're supposed to block the other guys so that our backs can run for touchdowns."

A prevailing feeling of true worth to the team can be found among all seven. They all seem to feel that as John put it, "the backs couldn't do very well without us."

Johnny said, "Most of those plays where they break a long run, we cut off the defense." Doyle added, "Even though they run for the cards, we actually know who got 'em."

Most everything that these interior linemen say could be contributed to their sometimes fierce pride. They all seem to take pride in the way they block, even though their headlines are few.

Doyle summed it up when he commented on whether he would like to be a back or not.

"Sure I'd like to be a back if I had the natural ability and if I had some linemen like Atlanta has got."

AHS SPEAKS

Amendment Ideas

If you could add an amendment to the Texas Constitution, what would you add?

Apparently, if AHS students had the opportunity, they would add more holidays and lower the age limit for driving.

Some typical suggestions in a brief survey this week were:

DANNY DUNAGAN Frosh: Raise the speed limit back to 70.

JIMMY FINLEY Frosh: I would add to it to have only four hour school days.

RUTH ANN CAUDLE Jr.: To go to school only three months and get out nine ... drivers license at the age of 15.

JERRY GRIFFIN Frosh: Add a who to the new what.

DAVID HODGE Frosh: Being able to do what you please without other people saying no.

NEWMAN HAWKINS Soph.: The right to drive under the age that is given now.

DANDY TURNER Jr.: No school.

MARK EAVES Soph.: No tests or homework in the schools.

PATRICE DAWSON Frosh: More holidays.

CHUCK ROE Jr.: Have no speed limit.

JOE POUNDS Jr.: Three-day weekends.

STEVE McCASLAND Frosh: More ...

Try A Little

Who was it that said, "What's the use in trying, we'll never get it anyway."

AHS students have certainly proven this statement wrong over the past few years.

After the concentrated efforts of many AHS students last year, we were able to have a junior play. If everyone had said "What's the use in trying"", this would never have been accomplished.

This weekend we had a homecoming because some saw some "use in trying."

A few years ago, the abolishment of the hair code came as a result of student concern. Does this show that "trying" is useless?

One can never do anything if he just leans back and sighs. If one does not "learn to try" in his high school years, chances are he never will. This certainly would prove to be a liability in later life.

After all, if one wants something badly enough, isn't it worth at least trying for, caring for, and even getting involved for?

When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary to thank the many people responsible for the making of your '76 Maroon. We would like to thank our sponsors, Mrs. Aldridge and Mrs. Caudle, for their encouragement and support.

We would like to thank Mr. Al Dickens, our photographer; Mr. Bill Lussier and the Citizens' Journal; Miss Jean Johnson and the V.O.E. department; and the advertisers. A special thanks goes to the mothers who made costumes for our bicentennial year.

We sincerely hope you enjoy this Maroon and that it reflects "the way you were" in the spirited year of 1976.

We also would like to thank God for the privilege of having wonderful friends and just being alive and able to participate in our great country's 200th. birthday.

We are sure you will join us in saying,
"Happy Birthday, U.S.A."

Thank you,

Delbert,

I have sure enjoyed having you in class this year. I think you have a good future ahead of you in an agriculture related field.
I'll let you know for sure after I see what my tomato plants do! Best of luck in all you do.

Your Friend,
